

PMB 220 Homework

Fall 2006

1. Briefly describe how stable isotope analysis can be used as an indicator of microbial metabolism.
2. What is the theoretical maximum potential difference (voltage) that can be achieved in a single biological fuel cell. Identify three reasons why this cannot be achieved in reality.